About the Journal

Oncology Network for Comprehensive Outcomes (ONCO) is a peer-reviewed open-access journal published quarterly in January, April, July, and October. The journal is dedicated to disseminating high-quality oncology research that advances clinical outcomes, improves patients' quality of life, and supports sustainable cancer care systems worldwide.

ONCO covers a broad range of oncology-related disciplines, including precision oncology, clinical innovation, holistic and supportive care, digital health technologies, health policy, and cancer survivorship. The journal publishes original research articles, systematic reviews, innovative case reports, and policy analyses addressing current challenges and advancements in cancer care.

Through a rigorous peer-review process, strong adherence to publication ethics, and a commitment to global knowledge dissemination, ONCO aims to serve as an international
